

Popular Lecture on Elephant Ecology & Conservation in Southern Africa

Aaranyak

Popular Lecture on Elephant Ecology & Conservation in Southern Africa

Centre for Wildlife Research and Biodiversity Conservation,
Zoology Department
In collaboration with
Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC),
Research Scholar Association of Zoology Department (RSAZD)
Bodoland University
&
Aaranyak

Date: 29th November, 2022

Time: 10:00 am

Venue: Technology Incubation Centre
Bodoland University

Resource person:

Prof. Curtice R. Griffin
Co-Director, School of Earth & Sustainability (SES)
Dept. of Environmental Conservation (ECo)
University of Massachusetts, Amherst

A popular lecture on Elephant Ecology & Conservation in Southern Africa was organised on 29th November 2022 by Department of Zoology in collaboration with Internal Quality Assurance Cell, BU and Aranyak. The resource person invited to deliver the lecture was Prof. Curtice R. Griffin, Co-Director, School of Earth and Sustainability, Department of Environmental Conservation, University of Massachusetts, Amherst.

The talk was attended by Dr. Manjil Basumatary, Academic Registrar Bodoland University, Prof. Hilloljyoti Singha, Head Department of Zoology, Prof. Sujit Deka, Director IQAC, Dr. Bibhuti Lahkar, Co-founder, Aranyak, all other faculty members, research scholars and students of the University.

Prof. Curtis who is an eminent Scientist and an expert in the subject and devoted his life and time in research and conservation efforts spanned across five continents, from work with elephants in Africa and Southeast Asia to sea turtles and whale sharks in the Caribbean, gave an elaborate and informative talk based on his experiences and knowledge on elephant conservation.

Photograph: The dignitaries along with the resource person Prof. Curtice on the dais

Photograph: Prof. Curtice delivering his talk to the audience

Photograph: The resource person Prof. Curtice along with some of the faculty members